

OLD MUTUAL EMPLOYEE GROUP IN SUPERFUND

In partnership with
OLD MUTUAL REWARDS

Dear ,

Thank you if you have already taken the necessary action to ensure your chosen loved ones are taken care of should you no longer be there to take care of them. If you have not yet done so, you can complete or update your beneficiary nomination on Old Mutual Secure Services.

Your OMEGS Death Benefit

If you were to die while you are an OMEGS Member, a death benefit (i.e. life cover) would become payable by OMEGS. The OMEGS Death Benefit will NOT just automatically be paid out to your spouse, partner, children, estate, or according to your will.

Why not?

This is because the OMEGS Death Benefit is governed by the Pension Funds Act, 1956 and the Old Mutual SuperFund Trustees must carefully follow the law when allocating and paying out the Death Benefit.

It is very important to complete your beneficiary nomination accurately and keep it up to date, to help the Trustees allocate the Death Benefit, so those you care for are appropriately looked after in the event of your death. However, the Trustees are not automatically bound by this form and must consider a wide range of information in making their allocation.

Old Mutual Secure Services

We are aware that previous communications contained an incorrect link and apologise for the confusion and inconvenience this may have caused. You can access Old Mutual Secure Services here to complete your beneficiary nomination.

1. Register or login to Old Mutual Secure Services (access the Registration Guide here).
2. Select MyPortfolio from the menu items.
